The importance of proofreading

The number one mistake of proofreading is not proofreading.

Arocdnicg to rsceearch at Cmabrigde Uinervtisy, it deosn't mttaer in waht oredr the ltteers in a wrod are, the olny iprmoatnt tihng is taht the frist and lsat ltteer are in the rghit pcale. The rset can be a toatl mses and you can sitll raed it wouthit pobelrm. Tihs is buseace the huamn mnid deos not raed ervey lteter by istlef, but the wrod as a wlohe.

For that reason it is important to read each letter and number when proofreading your next project.

Different software programs have spell/grammar check which finds most mistakes. However this function will not catch misspellings that form other valid words or incorrect facts.

"Stop the press! We have to make a change!"

How do you solve this problem? Proofreading! Not only should you look at your project but make sure to have a few other eyes look it over. Each time the project is reviewed try to focus on a different aspect.

1. Look at spelling.
2. Look at grammar.
3. Look at the facts.

Useless Fact:

A "clue" originally meant a ball of thread. This is why one is said to "unravel" the clues of a mystery.
